

Ahmad Ghoreishi grew up in Iran. He originally came to the United States to attend the University of Colorado where he earned a bachelor of arts degree. He earned a master of arts degree at Cal Berkeley and then returned to Colorado for a Ph.D degree.

After receiving his Ph.D, Ahmad went back to Iran and rose to be the chancellor of the National University of Iran. Ahmad emigrated to the United States permanently in 1981, following the revolution in Iran. From 1984 to 2003, Ahmad taught at the Navy Post Graduate School in Monterey. After retirement, he remained as a consultant to the school until recently.

Ahmad lives in Walnut Creek with his wife, Ann Marie. He has three children and five grandchildren. He enjoys walking, reading, and cooking.